Sir,

With reference to his No. 3397-404/100 dated 8th Ultimo, I have the honor to state that no Irrigation Cess is levied in this District on dry Inam lands converted into wet and irrigated by the Inamdars at their own cost.

2. The Devanhulli Amildar reports that dry lands, so converted and which remained as such during the survey, were classed as wet and irrigation Cess is continued to be levied on them. On a reference to the Survey Superintendent on the complaint of some individuals, he was of opinion that in the case of Inam lands entered, as wet and garden in the Survey accounts Irrigation Cess ought to be charged without going into details as to the source of Irrigation.

I have the honor to be
